South Bay Home Inspection Using Drones and Tandem Inspectors To Increase Accuracy, Saving Time and Money for Homeowners, Sellers, and Real Estate Investors

Torrance, CA – Randy Pierson, ASHI Certified Home Inspector and ACAC Certified Residential Mold Inspector, is the Founder and CEO of South Bay Home Inspections. With more than 15 years experience in the industry, he has witnessed the ups and downs of changing markets and has learned to seamlessly make adjustments to his business model in order to meet the needs of his diverse clients.

South Bay Home Inspections performs complete and thorough home inspections, using the latest technology, with no set time limit. Using tandem inspectors (2 inspectors per inspection), they have been able to increase accuracy and reduce inspection time, which means tremendous savings for homeowners, sellers and real estate investors.

Innovation and utilizing the latest technology is key to South Bay Home Inspection’s success. They are currently using drones for roof and other relevant inspections as well as R/C cars with the GoPro cameras to help map out those hard to reach foundation inspections. Their commitment is to accurately help clients understand, not only of the condition of the home, but where to find important components such as the water main shut-off, gas main shut-off and electrical main in times of emergency. Additional services also include FEMA Inspection, Mold Testing, and Inspection of Structural Systems.

Randy Pierson and his team of certified home inspectors have met the rigorous requirements to be providers of The ASHI Experience, a professional home inspection that combines the highest technical skills with superior customer service.
